Arms up high – one, two, three!
Touch your toes and then your knees,
Stretching you and me

Keep on twisting with delight.

Stretch out while we count!

Hands are made to work with, and not to fight

Tell me my children and please tell me quick
Are feet made to walk with or only to kick
And feet are made to walk with, feet are made to walk with Feet are made to walk with, and not to kick

Tell me my children and don't be shy
Are eyes made to see with, or only to cry?
Hey, eyes are made to see with,
    eyes are made to see with,
Eyes are made to see with, and not to cry

14. Exploring

I went exploring in the backyard
With a shovel and a box
I found a place to dig a hole
To hide some special rocks
I saw a worm making its home in the sand
It is fun to explore my backyard land

Explore, explore your backyard
You won't believe what you can find
If you look really hard

If you look close to the ground
You can see so much
With blades of grass and dandelions
Soft to the touch
And if I want I can climb up a tree
Or make myself a hiding place in a pile of leaves

Explore, explore your backyard
You won't believe what you can find
If you look really hard

Explore, explore your backyard
You won't believe what you can find
If you look really hard
Exploring your backyard
